

CAPT. J. F. OYSTER TO BE "NOTIFIED"

Race for Presidency of
Chamber of Commerce
Begins Tomorrow.

Plans were perfected today for the formal notification of Capt. James F. Oyster that his friends desire him to be the next president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

The committee, appointed at the recent meeting of Oyster men to call upon him, has arranged to go to the home of the candidate tomorrow night at 8 o'clock and there announce their desires.

The program includes speeches by H. W. Guy, chairman; William T. Gallier, maker of the motion to appoint a committee; and Isaac Gans.

Seventy members of the chamber have signed their intention of supporting Captain Oyster's candidacy. The list of these was made public today. They are:

W. H. Bradbury, Chapin Brown, A. E. R. Kline, S. G. Bensinger, Percival M. Brown, A. B. Brown, James Lee Best, Walter C. Balderston.

W. A. H. Church, Arthur Cowtell, M. C. Campbell, Charles W. Clagett, A. P. Clarke, Jr., E. L. Cockrell, William M. Dove, Charles W. Darr, T. C. Dulin, E. B. Edgushaw, Burr A. Edwards, Daniel Fraser.

Isaac Gans, W. F. Gude, Walter B. Guy, B. W. Guy, Granville M. Hunt, Leo P. Harlow, William B. Hardy, A. G. Herrmann, Albert Harper, T. J. Hughes, Fredrick C. Handy, Hugh F. Harvey, William D. Hoover.

Joseph W. Jacob, George H. Judd, John Edwin Kreh, D. J. Kaufman, J. B. Kinnear, James Lunsburgh, W. M. Lewin, S. Dana Lincoln, H. B. Leary, N. A. Merritt, Fred McKee, F. W. McKenzie, Thos. H. Melton.

A. D. Prince, Wm. L. Robins, Arthur Ramsay, Samuel Ross, C. F. Sudworth, Joseph Strasburger, George W. Stuart, Frederick L. Suddens.

A. Lettich Sinclair, S. S. Shedd, T. Towson Smith, C. F. Schutt, Albert Schulteis, W. E. Shannon, B. F. Saul, James S. Topham, Washington Topham, Ernest L. Thurston.

T. C. H. Vance, J. Louis Williger, George Francis Williams, George E. Walker, Joseph I. Welser, George W. White.

The committee which will notify Captain Oyster that they hope to make him president of the Chamber is composed of B. W. Guy, chairman; William T. Gallier, Isaac Gans, William F. Gude, George W. White, W. A. H. Church, D. J. Kaufman, T. C. Dulin, R. P. Saul, Daniel Fraser, E. B. Edgushaw, and Chapin Brown.

The opposition to Captain Oyster is centering upon D. J. Callahan, whose friends are still quietly working to bring about his candidacy and election. None of them are ready to make public any plan of campaign.

TAFT WON'T CALL AN EXTRA SESSION

President's Close Friends Say There Is No Likelihood of It.

President Taft's close friends expect him on his return from Panama to put a quietus on the talk that he may call an extra session next spring and put up to the Democrats a large program of proposed legislation, including tariff revision.

They say it would be absurd for the President to attempt to play politics in that fashion and to appear before the country in the light of a politician willing to keep the business interests of the country stirred up for months in order to put the Democrats in a hole.

They take the position that for the President to call an extra session would be equivalent to trying openly to hurt the Democrats by making it clear to the country they could not agree on a tariff measure. It would be a plain case of playing politics, say some of the men close to Mr. Taft, and the country would resent it and Taft suffer by reason of it.

In the last week or so there has been a lot of extra session talk about Washington, but there does not appear to be much likelihood that one will be called. One thing suggested is that the Democrats may try in the short session this winter to prevent passage of appropriation bills by March 4, and that with this accomplished an extra session will be necessary.

Of course, if the short session should fail to pass the appropriation bills, an extra session would be inevitable. But there is little prospect that the Democratic leaders will try anything of this sort.

Indications that the high tariff men in Congress will be just as strenuous as ever in resisting downward revision are not wanting. The recent action of the Boston Home Market Club in adopting a resolution declaring for high duties, even supporting the notion of the duties being high enough to insure export, is coming to hit at the tariff board, is looked on as reflecting the unyielding stand which will continue to be taken by the high tariff element in Congress.

VACCINATION LAW IS PUT TO A TEST

Arguments In Controversy
Formally Begin Before
Judge Anderson.

Arguments were heard today by Justice Anderson, in the District Supreme Court, in the mandamus proceedings instituted by Dr. G. W. Harris to compel the Board of Education to admit his nine-year-old son, Carl, to the Adams School without his first being vaccinated.

The Harris lad was barred from school October 11 because he had not been vaccinated, and the Anti-Vaccination Society seized upon the incident to test the legal right of the Board of Education to take such steps.

By mutual consent of the attorneys, it was agreed to fight the case on its merits, and avail themselves of no technicalities. The contention of attorneys for Mr.

at all news-stands.

Harris is that the regulation compelling vaccination is based on the law of June 25, 1864, which is superseded by the act of Congress of March 3, 1897. The latter provides for compulsory vaccination only when the Commissioners, fearing an epidemic, shall issue a general edict, they claim. They also claim that section 7 provides that all persons shall be vaccinated "or otherwise protected from smallpox," and in this latter clause the law is absolute and ambiguous.

Attorney Walter Balderson represents Dr. Harris, and Assistant United States Attorney Stanton J. Peale, Jr., is appearing for the Board of Education.

We've Special Values in Men's Overcoats
at $10.00---$12.50---$15.00

How special they are you must examine them to appreciate. We can tell you, however, that you'll not be able to duplicate the qualities at $5 more than we've marked them. The styles have been selected with great care, and the models designed with most excellent judgment. No matter what price you pay the garments cannot be cut any truer to the prevailing fashions of the hour. Among them are the Coats with the high-band collars, and Coats with velvet collars; Coats that have fly-fronts and Coats that "button-through." And another thing to take into account—WE GUARANTEE YOUR SATISFACTION with any selection you make.

Last Call for the Men's $25, $30 and $35 Suits
At $17.50

This has been a "quick" sale—because you have promptly recognized the unusual opportunity that was presented. They are wonderfully attractive from both a quality and fashion point of view. Not only are the patterns exclusive in character, but the making details are consistent with the high-grade fabrics. The lot will be odds and ends after Saturday if the demand keeps up as it has all this week. Right now there is every size.

Big Values in Boys' Clothing Suits—Overcoats—Reefers

Parents should take particular note of these special offerings announced for Saturday. They are twice special—quality and price. They touch the points of greatest need in Boys' wardrobes and pave an easy way to the greatest satisfaction.
